TOUR CONTEST CANDIDATES ARE SPURRED TO HIGHEST EFFORTS AS THE CLOSING TIME DRAWS NEAR

Exclusive of Today There Remain Three Days for Contestants
To Gather In the Ballots — Ultimate Winner
Is Still In Doubt

Time for closing the Yellowstone National Park Tour Contest being conducted by the Merchants and the Courier is now drawing near. Saturday will be the last day for casting the ballots and then the final count and check-up will be started and the result announced just as soon as possible. Every effort is being made by the judges to have their work completed so that the results can be given in Monday's issue of the Courier.

Exclusive of today there are just three more days for the contestants to gather in the ballots. Every contestant is working hard and the result is still in doubt. This was proven when a few days ago a contestant standing 20th in the list went into first place with a good lead. This contestant has now been displaced but there is no telling when such a thing may be repeated by any of the contestants.

Mrs. Laura McDonnell, Mill street, states that message received from her nieces, the Misses Regina and Marie Faulkner, Mt. Airy, who are touring through Yellowstone Park, shows great variation in the temperature this week. According to the word received, the temperature on the 19th of July was 101, and on the following day, snow fell.

SPREADING OF DISEASE BY BACTERIOLOGICAL WARFARE IN NEXT WORLD CONFLICT, WREAKING UNTOLD HORRORS, MUST ALSO BE CONSIDERED

Disease Caused by Last War
Killed 28,379,000
Civilians

BUT WAS INVOLUNTARY

Spread of Epidemic to People
Who Started It Speaks Against Such

(Note: The spread of disease by bacteriological warfare in the next world conflict, wreaking untold horror upon armies and civilian populations alike, is being considered as a preparedness measure in Europe. H. R. Knickerbocker declares in the eighth article of his series "The Great Chaos.")

LONDON, July 23—(INS)—Disease caused by the last war killed 28,379,000 civilians throughout the world, or double the number of dead soldiers, according to Professor L. Hersh, the Swiss authority on international statistics. Disease in the last war was involuntary. Disease in the next war could conceivably be multiplied by beligerent action, for the league experts, far from ruling bacteriological warfare out of account, declare it has "deadly military possibilities."

Against its use is the fact that once started, an epidemic might spread to the people who started it. Practically the whole nation would have to be immunized before a belligerent government could afford to spread the germs of disease among its enemy.

But competent bacteriologists insist that no serious consideration of the next war would be complete without regarding the possibilities of germ warfare, and in the present state of Europe nations are vigilant for the least indication that it may be in course of preparation.

Four eminent medical men, Professor Pfeiffer of Breslau, Professor Bordet of the Brussels Pasteur Institute, Professor Madsen of the State Serum Institute, Copenhagen, and Professor Cannon of the Harvard Medical School, rendered to the League of Nations a classical report on bacteriological warfare at the time when disarmament and the prohibition of cruel and unusual weapons appeared to be a possibility.

All four men reported their repugnance at the idea of harnessing that most humane of sciences, medicine, to the chariot of war but all four felt it their duty to point out the technical possibilities.

Typhus, typhoid, cholera, Bubonic Plague, the germs of anthrax, glanders, rabies, and the micro-coccus of Malta fever were named as cultures

WARN PARENTS ABOUT THE CARE OF CHILDREN

Health Deputy Cautions
About Children Having
Colds in Summer

SHOULD BE WATCHED

HARRISBURG, July 24—The present outbreak of infantile paralysis in several southern states today caused officials of the State Department of Health to stress the value of early diagnosis.

"While this disease as yet has not made its appearance this season in Pennsylvania in proportions to cause alarm, the value of having symptoms which are frequently associated with the common cold definitely diagnosed early cannot be over-emphasized," said Dr. Paul R. Rothfuss, deputy secretary.

"Colds are by no means confined to winter months. Because of this parents of children are likely to disregard the possibility of the presence of more serious disease when these symptoms arise.

"Measles, scarlet fever and other maladies, including infantile paralysis, may have as their forerunner many of the usual conditions associated with the cold such as nasal secretion, a slight cough, and fever.

"Undoubtedly in the past there have been many cases in Pennsylvania where such symptoms were permitted to run their course, when in fact the condition represented, when cured, an automatically aborted case of infantile paralysis.

"Due to this phenomenon, health authorities in the infantile paralysis season are confronted at least potentially with the factor of missed cases. This is one of the reasons for the sudden outbreak of this disease in communities which apparently have been free of it. The mild and unrecognized case thus becomes the direct contact for the condition which appears in more serious form.

"While there is no desire to frighten any Pennsylvania parent, it is well for everyone interested in the welfare of children personally to realize the great preventive value involved in an early diagnosis."

Dictators Face Possible Death

Mexico City, July 24—Three state dictators today faced expulsion and possible death as the state-directed rebellion of more than 20,000 peasants from the east coast to the Texas border threatened to spread over the entire country. Two of the rebel followers of President Cardenas were killed. All night long 3,000 peasants besieged the defiant governor, Rafael Villarreal in the Tamaulipas state legislative palace in the capitol, demanding his resignation.

DOYLESTOWN FAIR TO BE HELD SEPT. 24-28

Officials Not Superstitious Over This Being The 13th Year

FINE FREE ACTS

DOYLESTOWN, July 24—Not the least bit superstitious over the fact that the 1935 Doylestown Fair will be the thirteenth annual, officers and directors in session this week at the Bucks County Administration Building, heard reports that indicate that this year's fair will surpass any previous one held in Bucks county.

The Doylestown Fair, "the biggest little fair in the United States," will be held this year from September 24 to 28 inclusive. All exhibits must be on the fair grounds by Monday, September 23. The fair gates will open Tuesday morning, September 24, when "Children's Day" will again be observed.

A careful survey of the fair situation throughout the East by Dr. H. W. Turner, of New Hope, president of the fair association, has resulted in the booking of the very best free acts and attractions obtainable for the Doylestown Fair. Every effort is being made this year to give Doylestown fair patrons something unusual, something not seen anywhere on fair grounds in the East.

The "Congress of Daredevils," an attraction that last year was a complete sell-out on the opening day, has again been booked by Dr. Turner for "Children's Day." This attraction is considered one of the finest of its kind in America.

Aside from the amusement features this year, there will be a bigger cattle show than ever with a feature exhibit by National Farm School's prize dairy herd, which will be separate from the rest of the cattle show.

Every department head has expressed more interest this year than ever before. The annual contest of the garden clubs as a feature of the flower show will again be managed by Mrs. Hillborn Darlington, of Doylestown, who anticipates a larger show than last year.

The evening's entertainment which has made Doylestown Fair famous throughout this section of the country, will this year see an increased standard for the fair officials have again booked Ernie Young's "Manhattan Revue," with many new features, to be staged nightly on the big stage in front of the grandstand.

At last night's meeting, representatives of the A. R. Atkinson Jr. Post, No. 219, of Doylestown, were authorized to report back to the Post that the Legion has again been granted the beer concession which is handled together with the fair association.

The harness racing feature of the fair is being built up considerably this year, with unusually fine offers for horsemen on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday afternoons of fair week. There will be no automobile racing on the Doylestown track, directors decided last night.

INSTALLS OFFICERS

Mrs. Lewis Townsend, as district president, P. O. of A. Lodge, this evening will install the officers of Camp No. 313, P. O. of A. Lodge, Cornwells Heights, in the P. O. S. of A. Hall, at that place.

On August 14th, in F. P. A. Hall, Mrs. Townsend will also install officers of Camp 89, P. O. of A. Lodge.

JAMES L. McGEE DIES AT HIS HOME HERE; ILL LONG TIME

Was Superintendent of Public Safety and Chief of Fire Department

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY

Deceased Was Very Active and Played Prominent Part in Boro' Affairs

JAMES L. McGEE
Superintendent of Public Safety

James L. McGee, superintendent of public safety and chief of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department, died at his home, 330 Washington street, yesterday afternoon after an extended illness.

The deceased was a native of Bristol having been born here 46 years ago and he is survived by his wife, Marguerite; daughters, Mary Jo, Ann, Margaret, and Rosemary; sons, James, Neal and Charles.

Three sisters, Sister Mary De Lourdes, New York; Mrs. Thomas Keating, South Langhorne; and Mrs. John Whelen, Burlington, N. J.; three brothers, Bernard, Patrick and Hugh, Bristol, also survive.

Mr. McGee was a member of Bristol Council, No. 906, Knights of Columbus, Archbishop Ryan Assembly, Fourth Degree; Bucks Lodge, No. 1169, Loyal Order of Moose, Fellowship Degree; and Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. E. He was successfully engaged in the roofing business here up to the time of his death.

Mr. McGee was a member of the Pennsylvania State Firemen's Association and also of the Pennsylvania State Fire Chiefs Association.

Burgess Clifford L. Anderson has ordered the flag at the Municipal Building placed at half-staff and the fire headquarters as well as those of the police have been draped in black.

The deceased was active in fraternal circles for a number of years and gave much valuable service to the organizations with which he was affiliated. He was elected secretary of the Moose in 1924 and served as such until 1931. He was made a member of the Fellowship Degree in 1929, was a past dictator of Bucks Lodge and a member of the advisory and financial committee.

He was chosen grand knight of the Bristol Council, Knights of Columbus during the early years that the Council occupied its own home and during his terms of office many advancements were made and the home greatly improved. He was re-chosen grand knight on July 1, 1934, and again took up the work of improving the home and advancing the organization. In this he succeeded just as he previously had done to such a degree that on July 1, 1935, he was re-elected for another term.

OFF TO CAMP

The ads, the prospectuses, the anxious conversations with other parents whose children have gone to camps. The selection, and the vague misgiving that maybe Camp Edgely would have been the wiser choice. The discovery that last year's bathing suit has been outgrown. Another discovery that the average nine-year-old girl takes a 14 size. The new shoes. The decision to leave out all party dresses. The decision to include one party dress. The new tooth brush. The worry over whether the young camper will be homesick.

The question of laundry. The purchase of the parcel-post valise to send the laundry home. The later decision to have it done at the camp. The recurrent worry over whether Joan or Betty or Barbara—as the case may be—will be homesick. The matter of fountain pens and their tendency to leak into luggage. The eleventh-hour discovery that each camper is directed to take along a flashlight. The transportation problem. The worry over whether Betty or Joan will be homesick.

The departure. The forgotten comb and the necessity for buying one along the way. The worry en route, whether the young lady will be homesick. The hunt for the camp. The eventual discovery of its sign—18 by 27 inches—on a tree. The arrival. The simultaneous arrival of three small friends, and the happy reunion. The strict injunction that a letter be written every Sunday to Mother and Father. The parting. The worry on the way home whether the offspring will be homesick.

The arrival, the following Monday, of a message: "Dear Mother: Will it be all right if I stay at camp until school starts? I hope you and Father do not miss me too much."

DR. GLASS AND THE BEES

Just because a man is an L.L. D. eight times over, has an encyclopedic knowledge of currency and banking and is in deadly earnest when he says "sovereign state," it does not necessarily follow that he always must go robed in statesmanlike solemnity. In his lesser crusades as in his greater ones, Carter Glass fights to win; but fights with a light-hearted abandon which must be almost as enjoyable to foe as to friend. A case in point is the Virginian's latest senate victory where, in his bid to rout proponents of birth control for bees.

The occasion for hostilities was an amendment to the AAA bill providing for bee marketing agreements. Senator Glass opposed this on the ground that he did not want to be sent to jail for inability to "control the activities of my queen bee." As a sequel to that declaration, he received a letter from a Wisconsin woman instructing him in means of avoiding risk of jail by maintaining birth control among his bees. To this letter, the Virginian replied that he did not intend to "deprive my queen bees of the more abundant life that Prof. Tugwell has contrived for human beings."

When the exchange was over, Glass had succeeded in making the senate laugh the bee amendment out of the AAA measure, a victory comparable to his earlier abolition of the aggravating "and/or" in the text of acts of congress.

If luck seems to play with him year in and year out, he's depending on something else.

Spreading of Disease in Next World Conflict Must Also Be Considered

Professor Madsen opined that "airmen or persons with a knowledge of the topography of localities might infect the central sources of the water or milk supply of a big city, and thereby propagate epidemics of typhoid fever, cholera, or other intestinal diseases."

He also thought that "the voluntary propagation of influenza epidemics even more serious than the last general epidemic might perhaps be possible in the future."

Most military men in Europe scout the idea. They say bacteriological warfare is too dangerous for the user. But what discourages the proponents of peace is that the same objections were raised at first to poison gas, and yet the three of four years of scientific work by belligerents discovered ways to use poison gas with a minimum of danger for the user and a maximum for the victim. It is argued that precisely the same evolution may take place in the germ arm. Self-interest may check this arm, but nothing else.

Death rays and rays to stop motors are another category of weapons which military men are leaving largely to the scientists. Yet there is plenty of evidence that war ministries are interested, and as long ago as two years, the Charlottenburger Technische Hochschule in Berlin had developed a ray which was capable of killing a small animal at a distance of 50 yards.

Dispatches from Rome describe experiments by Senator Marconi in stopping internal combustion engines by extinguishing their magneto sparks. Radio authorities admit this is a theoretical possibility and that its practical application depends largely on the radius of the extinguishing rays.

Obviously development of such a ray would have enormous effect upon aerial warfare. With sufficient power behind the ray to project it to average flying height, it could be used to bring down enemy planes without firing a shot. This would be the greatest invention of all to "humanize" war. But it could not be used against Diesel engines. Germany has been developing Diesel airplane engines ever since the late Professor Hugo Junkers brought out his first model five years ago.

Another extremely interesting future airplane type will be the mosquito plane, originated by Ernst Udet, who with his fifty-four air victories ranked next to the great Manfred von Richthofen in the war and is today Germany's greatest living ace. The mosquito plane was taken in hand by Heinkel, one of the leading airplane manufacturers of the Reich.

Based upon an entirely new principle, it utilizes the flicker motion of a mosquito's wings. Udet declares the mosquito, capable of rising or descending vertically, and of remaining motionless in the air, and of speeds phenomenally great for its size, is the ideal flying organism. His plane would duplicate the mosquito's flight. Its Colonel T. E. Lawrence, of Arabia, recently killed on his motorcycle, had devoted the last years of his life to the development of a new weapon of war which may prove important in naval conflict. As air-craftsman Shaw in the R. A. F. he invented a new type of boat so speedy and seaworthy that it may replace the submarine. They make 40 to 60 miles an hour over seas so rough that large steamers have to lie up. Capable of carrying two torpedoes, they could be a menace to shipping. Lawrence intended them as "crash boats" to go out and rescue hydroplanes in trouble. Scott Payne, of Southampton, are making them.

The list of new weapons could be extended indefinitely. What is the net outlook for Europe? Will the new war be shorter because it is more brutal? Will it cause fewer casualties because it will not last so long?

world. Well, I came to New York on your invitation, looked it over and made up my mind that the wilderness was the place for me.

"Quite so," Hod admitted.

"I was going to Canada when something happened. The two most intelligent animals in the world—my airdale and Karen Sire's chow—saw a way to bring us together."

"Intelligent animals," Hod repeated. "Godlike animals, I should say."

"Right!" Dick responded promptly. "Put all the sarcasm you like on the ball. Nevertheless, it was a godlike act. Call it Fate for short. Hod, I'm telling you that I love Karen Sire. Anything presumptuous about that? We're Virginians."

"Some person threw a dagger at me the moment I stepped into the corridor and turned my back."

are we not? I notice that Sire has a portrait of Aaron Burr in his library—wasn't it one of our ancestors who presided at Burr's trial when he was tried for treason?"

"You're a poor reminder of those glories," Hod replied brutally, "living like a savage. Huh! A gypsy of modern industry!"

"Do you measure a man's culture by the crease in his pants?" Dick growled. "What about my degrees—my medals? It wouldn't take long to knock this rough crust off me."

Hod had taken on the air of a patient alienist, examining a harmless inmate. "Why do you continually ignore Meyers tonight?" he asked.

"What was the idea behind the notion of scratching matches on the sole of your shoe? I think I saw Karen smile when you tried to take a half-hitch in your belt—forget you had on suspenders, didn't you?"

All this banter was flowing in Hod's apartment, whether the two had returned after Maurice Sire's suddenly expressed wish to be alone with his daughter. The man's stoicism in concealing the fact that a dick was sticking in his back had left them entirely without suspicion that another murder had been attempted.

"Sire is quite a fellow," said Dick, after treating his brother to an interval of scornful silence. "There's something stately and impressive about him. When he came back from the balcony he walked like General Pershing on parade."

"I thought he looked somewhat stiff," Hod answered, obviously with the purpose of rubbing the point off Dick's gaudy smile. "But I wasn't thinking of his personal graces at the time; it was the look on his face. Noticed it, didn't you?"

Mr. McGee was also very active politically and served as assessor in the second ward for eight years, resigning in 1933.

For many years Mr. McGee was a captain of fire police and when the Consolidated Fire Department was organized in 1927 he was appointed its chief by Burgess Clifford L. Anderson on December 12, 1927. On February 10, 1930, he was named superintendent of public safety when that department was created by borough council. As superintendent of public safety Mr. McGee had supervision over both the police and firemen. A series of inspection of properties was inaugurated and safety patrols were organized in the public and parochial schools.

With the organization of the Department of Public Safety Mr. McGee again exhibited his ability for organization. Periodic inspections have been made of business places and residences with the result that fire losses have been reached the lowest figure for many years.

In the organization of safety patrols in the schools Mr. McGee had the hearty co-operation of the authorities of both public and parochial schools. The boys admired him and have worked with much determination to prevent accidents to children in and about the schools. They have played a big part in accident prevention.

Mr. McGee had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances and was well known not only in Bristol but throughout Bucks County and the state in fire circles.

Mr. McGee was educated in the schools in Bristol and could truly be termed a self-made man. He was the father of a large family, conducted a business successfully but still found time to play an important role in civic and fraternal affairs in the community of which he was a part. He was of a kindly and charitable disposition and patriotic in his devotion to his duties of both a civic and fraternal nature.

His success as an officer in fraternities was marked and whenever he was chosen for a specific duty that duty was performed with fidelity and dispatch.

Relatives and friends, also Knights of Columbus, Bristol Lodge, No. 970, B. P. O. E., Bucks Lodge, No. 1169, L. O. O. M., Bristol Consolidated Fire Department, Bristol Police Department and members of Borough Council are invited to attend the funeral on Saturday morning at nine o'clock from the late residence of the deceased with Solemn Requiem Mass in St. Mark's Church at 10 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Mark's cemetery under the direction of W. I. Murphy Estate.

KAYOES HIS FISH
CAMDENTON, Mo. — (INS) — It sounds like a proverbial fish story, but Martin Griffin had a witness to vouch for this one. While fishing in Possum Hollow Griffin heaved a stone at a "nice lookin' fish." It was a hit—a two and a half pound black bass.

ERECT RIFLE, PISTOL RANGES AT HULMEVILLE

HULMEVILLE, July 24—A rifle and pistol range has been set up at the edge of Hulmeville borough, by a subsidiary of the Bristol-Burlington Rifle and Pistol Club. The range is located at the end of Reetz avenue, and members who are active in the new project state that any interested individuals will be privileged to make use of the range.

The equipment consists of a 250-yard pistol range; a 50-yard and a 100-yard rifle range.

It has been necessary for members of the Bristol-Burlington Club to travel to Beverly, N. J., heretofore, for practice, and the establishment of the range here will make practice more convenient for members from the Bristol, Hulmeville and Langhorne area, it is stated.

FIRST PLACE AT STAKE IN GAMES HERE TONIGHT

First place will be at stake in the battle between the Caseys and the Hibernians tonight on Leedom's field. In other contests scheduled, St. Ann's will play at Tullytown, and the Edgely A. C. goes to Newportville to play the Newport Road Men's Club.

The Caseys, Hibernians, Edgely and Tullytown are undefeated in the Twilight circuit, with the Knights and Tullytown winning three games and Edgely and the Hibs, two. A defeat to any of these four clubs will prove disastrous and will drop them in the league race.

Games are scheduled to begin at 6:30 o'clock, sharp.

PONDON A. C. DEFEATS STRONG ST. CHARLES NINE

The undefeated Pondon A. C. defeated the strong St. Charles nine from Cornwall, Sunday afternoon, on the Pondon field, by the one-sided score of 7 to 3. The hitting of Johnny and Joe Stallone and Alfred Eastlack clinched the game. Johnny Stallone hit a home run with bases loaded and was the feature of the game. The pitching of Joe Stallone was too superb for St. Charles. J. Fusaro pitched good ball for the Cornells, but was hit hard in the Cornells. A. Fusaro and J. McMahon hit the hardest for Cornwall, getting five hits between them.

"KENNY" HILL FARMED TO ALBANY BALL CLUB

"Kenny" Hill, second-sacker for the Delington team in the Delaware River League and the Edgely Braves in the Lower Bucks County League, has been "farmed" to the Albany Club in the International League as the property of the Philadelphia Athletics. This became known here when Hill received a telegram from Connie Mack to report to the Albany team and to participate in the night game scheduled for last night.

Hill, known to many fans in this section, finished first in the batting of the first half of the Delaware River League with an average of .516. He stepped to the plate 62 times and received 32 hits. He topped Sid Purcell, Bristol A. A., by a 94 point margin.

Hill has been reporting to Shibe Park daily for practice and has impressed Manager Mack by his prowess with the stick. Last Monday, Manager Mack used Hill at second base in an exhibition game against Allentown. On his first appearance at the plate, the Morrisville youth socked a home run over the left field fence. He walked, singled, and flied out on his other turns at bat. In the field, he committed an error in six chances.

Team-mates of Hill on the Albany club were Edwin "Alabama" Pitts, whose baseball case stirred the United States last month, and Frankie Hayes, of Jamesburg, who at one time played in the Central Jersey League.

SHAMROCKS WIN

Yesterday afternoon on Leedom's field the Shamrocks defeated the Pond A. C., 8 to 3. The winners outdid the losers, 18 to 7. Lloyd Duzan led the winners with two doubles and a single out of three times at bat; while Walt Johnson led the losers with a triple, a double and a single. Morris was hit hard but was given good support by his team-mates. Thus the Shamrocks still lead the league with three wins and no losses.

HIBERNIANS DROP INTO SECOND POSITION

The Hibernians dropped into a dead-lock for second place in the Lower Bucks County League last night as they were victims of a 15-5 shellacking at the hands of the Edgely Braves. The one-sided affair was played before a large crowd on Leedom's field.

The Braves socked the pill with much gusto last night, making a total of 18 safe blows, many of which were for extra bases. The following table will show what the Edgelyites did in the way of hitting: Hines, a double and two singles; Bud Wright, a triple, double and single; Malmesbury, a triple; Leo Hibbs, two singles; Benny Paul, four singles; Fred Hibbs, two doubles and two singles; Morrell, a single. Reading and Paul failed to connect safely but Paul drew three passes.

The Edgelyites seemed to score at will in the contest and drove two Hibs' hurriers to the showers. "Eddie" Sullivan started and was relieved by Devlin in the fourth. A seven-run attack on Devlin in the fifth finished him and Heckman went in to pitch in the sixth. The Hibernian twirler retired the side scoreless in the sixth but at the beginning of the seventh was pelted for hits from the bats of "Pete" Firce, Paul and Hines. However, as the inning was not completed, the hits were erased from the book.

The only bright side of the defeat for the Hibs was the fact that "Eddie" Sullivan crashed out his fourth home run of the season in the third inning with the sacks empty.

HARRIMAN NO-NAMES POUND TWO PITCHERS

The Harriman Nonames pounded a pair of Third Ward pitchers around the lot Monday at Leedom's field and defeated the first half champs, 8-3.

The Sixth Ward boys jumped on Hysty Grimes and Tom Muffet for ten hits and showed plenty of inside baseball in their triumph. Three of the Harriman club's runs were scored by the squeeze play.

Dickie VanAken went the route for the Nonames and kept the Pikers' seven hits well scattered. There was only one inning in which the Third Ward counted more than two bingles.

Arthur Grimes, diminutive shortstop of Third Ward, was the only player to garner a pair of hits.

The Pikers started off by scoring twice in the opening frame. The Harriman boys were held scoreless until the third when a pair of singles, a double steal and an infield hit counted the run.

The Nonames scored two in the fourth, another in the fifth, and counted for three runs in the sixth. They added another in the last frame.

Harry Berry and "Weaver" McCahan led the boys from up town with two bingles apiece. Every other man bar one had a base hit to his credit.

HULMEVILLE CLIMBS INTO FIRST PLACE

Hulmeville A. A. continued its march to the second half championship, climbing into first place last night, by scoring four runs in the sixth to beat out the Bristol A. A. club, 8-5, on Reetz's field, Hulmeville. It was the fifth consecutive win for the Blackmen.

Spotting the A. A. a 5-1 lead in the fifth, the Hulmevilleites did not begin to realize their position until they shaved the Mulhollanders lead by counting three times in the fifth and then continued to put the game away by registering four times in the following session.

"Spike" Bristol started on the mound for Bristol but when the Hulmevilleites began their second uprisings in the sixth was relieved by Pat McCarthy who finished. Between the pair, the first half champions collected ten safe blows. The A. A. gathers eight bingles off the crooked slants of "Ike" Watson who struck out six batters.

The longest hit made on the new Hulmeville field was seen in the fifth when Stan Carlen connected with a Tryon hook and sent it to deep left center opposite the apple tree there. However, a fast relay, McClafferty to Oppman to Dougherty retired the Hulmeville shortstop at the plate.

PLAYS WITH A'S

"Charlie" Patton, Cornwells, formerly of Temple University, is being used as third string catcher by Connie Mack. Patton batted for Castor in Monday's game with the Cleveland Indians and walked. He was forced at second base by "Jimmy" Fox, Patton hit a home run in the exhibition game against Allentown last Monday and has stuck with the A's since.

SNOWED IN TILL NOVEMBER

MELBOURNE — (INS) — The Gribble family, occupants of the highest house in Victoria, situated on the peak of Mount Hotham, are snowed in until November. In their mountain home, blizzards, deep snow-drifts and icy temperatures keep them prisoners. But they aren't worried. Mrs. Gribble laid in a ton of flour, half a ton of sugar, hundreds of tins of meat and fruit, a ton and a half of potatoes, many hundredweights of turnips, pumpkins, parsnips, and onions—and 1,000 pounds of meat.
